CAREER SUMMARY

Dr. Anuar is a well-trained Victoria University graduate with vast experience and excellent knowledge in the areas of management, culture and information systems. He was appointed as administration officer at the Registrar Office, UPM in 2003 before being awarded a UPM Scholarship to pursue his doctorate in Management and Information Systems (MIS) at the Victoria University Melbourne, Australia in 2010.

His Ph.D. thesis was on “Email Usage among Non-Academic Staff in Malaysian Public and Private Universities”. His study examine the role of perceptual attitudes and cultural factors correlated with the adoption of email by non-academic staff in public and private universities using constructs of perceived ease of use and perceived usefulness (derived from Davis’ Technology Acceptance Model) mediated by dimensions of national and organisational culture (derived from Hofstede’s framework).

He completed his thesis in Jun 2015 and returned to UPM and continued to serve as an administration officer at School of Graduate Studies before becoming a lecturer at Faculty of Economics and Management, UPM in February 2016.

Courses that he has taught include Principles of Management, Organizational Behavior, Strategic Management, Management and Information System and Cross Cultural Management. He is actively involved in research covering the areas of management, information system and cross-cultural management.

Since receiving his Ph.D. in 2015, he was awarded four (4) grants namely Putra Grant and International Grant as the main researcher. While as a co-researcher, he received Ministry of Higher Education Grant to study on awareness and customer satisfaction on the UBER services in Malaysia and Putra Grant titled Assessing the Social-Cultural Factors and Indicators in Langkawi and its Impact on the Malaysians National GDP.

His articles were published in a few journals, internationally and locally such as Malaysian Journal of Youth Studies, International Journal of Economics and Management, International Journal of Applied Business and Economic Research and etc. He has successfully supervised 1 post-graduate (Master of Science) and currently, he is supervising 10 Ph.D candidates. He has served on several committees at both university and national level. He has been appointed as Advisory Board in International Journal of Economics and Organizational Sciences (IJEOS) and International Journal of Entrepreneurship and Management Practices (IJEMP). He is currently an editor (member of the editorial board) for ASIA Journal of Management (AJM).

In recognition of his contributions to the university, he was awarded the Excellent Academic Staff for Faculty of Economics and Management in 2017 and Excellent Service Certificate in 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008, 2009, 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017 (APC) and 2018.
